

Glen Gorse Golf Club

Flexible Memberships £425

Modern 'lifestyle' membership at a traditional private members Golf Club

A limited number of Flexible Memberships are being introduced to offer a modern and reduced cost method of playing Club golf.

This is not "Pay & Play" but is an innovative method of being a member of this prestigious and traditional golf club.

An annual fee of £425 plus England Golf affiliation costs, places 60 golf credits on your membership profile, with additional credits of £110 (20 credits) available to be purchased only once in each membership year to offer flexibility of playing a few extra rounds if required.

Glen Gorse Golf Club

Conditions of Flexible Membership

Flexible Members must report to the Pro Shop prior to play to have their Membership Profile Account administered by way of the Club's fully integrated computer system. Failure to do so may lead to membership being suspended. Flexible Members are entitled to the same benefits as Full Members except for the opportunity to attend and vote at the General Meetings of the Club.

Any unused credits (maximum of 20 credits) will be carried over upon annual renewal. Resignation or dismissal from the Club will result in immediate forfeit of outstanding credits.

Flexible Members will be required to acquaint themselves with, and conform with, the Club's Rules and Bye Laws in all respects.

The allocation of credits may be reviewed by the Finance & Business Committee from time to time and they may make reasonable changes to the Rules, Subscriptions and/or conditions of Flexible Membership as appropriate.

Flexible membership is only available to new members or former playing members who have not been a playing member for over 2 years.
